FINLAND BECOMES FREE.
London, Nov. 4.—A Times dispatch from St. Petersburg says that Finland has won her freedom, and the czar has surrendered. A manifesto embodying all the demands of the Helsingfors popular delegates has been submitted to the czar for his signature. The czar has consented to a constitution and the freedom of Finland.

THROWN INTO FLAMES.
Bucharest, Nov. 4.—The refugees from Kishineff give accounts of the terrible acts of anti-Jewish outrages. A large part of the town is burned, and Jews are dragged from hiding places and thrown into the flames of burning buildings.

RUSSIAN SQUADRON.
London, Nov. 4.—The Central News Helsingfors correspondent wires that the Russian squadron ordered to that port has just arrived, and troops are being landed. The people are determined not to submit to such oppressive measures, and are much excited. A terrible conflict seems inevitable.

Deny Amnesty Only to Political Murderers.
St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—The government has made an amnesty answer and the emperor signed it, but he has excluded from its benefits political murderers and persons who have attempted murder for political reasons since 1889. It is estimated that the amnesty will affect 15,000 persons who are shut up in jails, prisons and fortresses in European Russia and other thousands in the penal colonies of Siberia. Besides, it will permit the return of countless others who are banished from their homes and compelled to live in specified localities.

In State of Siege.
Odessa, Nov. 4.—On yesterday the fourth day of terror, the peaceful population was practically under a state of siege. Even the markets and restaurants are closed and it is impossible to get bread or meat. A mob pillaged a number of Jewish shops in the main streets and among the others the biggest wholesale grocery, that of Rabinovitch.

The rioters also burned three factories and killed a physician and two assistants who were dressing wounds. Last evening the rioters pillaged the biggest dry goods store in the city. The loss in this case is estimated at $175,000; a hardware store looted, involved a loss of $100,000, and in addition twelve fur stores were sacked. The consulates and hotels are guarded by troops.

Jews Brutally Murdered.
Berlin, Nov. 4.—The Tageblatt prints the following dispatch from Kieff:
"Anti-Jewish excesses have been raging here for three days, and all Jewish shops and many private houses have been totally destroyed."

"The number of Jewish victims is large and children and old people have been barbarously murdered while the military and police looked on with cynical indifference."

The Lokal Anzeiger's Kieff correspondent represents the situation as improved, Friday, says the correspondent, passed quietly. The number

Mr. Joseph L. Friedman Was Today Elected President of New Companies

A telegram received at the headquarters in Paducah of the companies this afternoon, announces that Mr. Joseph L. Friedman, of Paducah, was today at Boston, Mass., elected president of both the Paducah Traction company, and the Paducah Light and Power company.

This is a high honor for Mr. Friedman, and shows what confidence the Boston capitalists now own the Jews Burned to Death.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—Count Witte and Prince Obolensky received the leaders of the progressive constitutional party including prominent members of the municipality. Anti-Jewish disorders are reported from Theodosia, where a number of Jews and others were burned to death. In a revolutionary outbreak in Kostroma many were killed or wounded. Rioting and anti-Jewish outrages occurred at Saratoff, where many shops were plundered.

Russian Free Press Tomorrow.
St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—The Press censorship exercised from time immemorial in Russia, will be raised Sunday, after which the newspapers will be amenable only to the criminal law for libel. The libel laws will be very stringent, however, and will amount to almost a continuance of the censorship.

Is Appointed Chief Procurator.
St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—Prince Alexis Oboynsky has been appointed chief procurator of the Holy Synod, succeeding Pobiedonostzeff.

London, Nov. 4.—A Central News dispatch says that there was desperate rioting at Odessa today and more than 500 persons were killed and wounded. Lloyd's agent at Nioleaff, Russia, wire that the rioting there has ended.

Strikers Return to Work.
St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—There was a general resumption of all workmen except the railroad employees today.

UNCLE SAM'S WALL.
Will Be Removed From Between Custom House and Old Stable Site.

The United States government pays attention to everything, even an old brick wall. Custodian F. M. Fisher, of the government building, who had interested himself in behalf of the Elks, of Paducah, today received instructions to have torn down the wall that was built sometime ago between the government building and the livery stable that is now being torn down to make room for the Elks new building. This will be a great convenience and accommodation to the Elks. The government had the wall erected to shut off the view of the unsightly stable.

Tub Shannon Caught.
William Shannon, alias "Tub" has been arrested in Union City, Tenn., by Detective T. J. Moore, and lodged in jail here on a charge of shooting Wm. Sharp on Jefferson street near Eighth on April 26, 1904. Shannon disappeared after the shooting, and claims to have been in the west and in St. Louis until a few days ago when he went to Union City to visit relatives. Sharp was not seriously hurt by the shot.

RESTRAINING ORDER HAS BEEN ISSUED

By Judge Walter Evans in Judson Pierce Case.

Damage Suit Now Cannot Be Taken
Up in State Court Until Injunction Is Decided.

FIRST OF ITS KIND HERE

Federal Judge Walter Evans, at Louisville, has granted a temporary injunction in the case of Judson Pierce's administrator against the Illinois Central for $20,000 damages for Pierce's death about eight years ago. The suit for permanent injunction comes up here in federal court this month and the order received here today is simply to restrain the attorneys for the administrator, Hendrick, Miller and Marble, from taking any further steps in the state courts until Judge Evans has tried the suit of the railroad for a permanent injunction.

The damage suit has been tried in federal court and won by the railroad. The court of appeals in Kentucky has recently decided that federal court has no jurisdiction in such cases, and the case has been taken up again in the state court on the strength of the decision.

Attorneys Wheeler, Hughes and Berry, Illinois Central attorneys here, claim that an injunction of this nature was once made permanent at Louisville in a Southern railway case. The temporary injunction issued by Judge Evans in this case is against the attorneys, preventing them from proceeding further in the case, and if they should disregard the order they would lay themselves liable to contempt proceedings in federal court.

This is said to be the first proceeding of its kind against Paducah attorneys, but there have been several at Louisville.

WOULD-BE ROBBER

Was Struck With a Wrench by I. C. Employee.

Mr. Miley Clark, a pipe fitter employed by the local I. C., had an exciting experience last night about 12 o'clock at the last bridge going out on Caldwell street to the depot.

He resides at Ninth and Jackson streets and was called out to do some necessary repairs at the depot. He walked, there being no cars, and on reaching the bridge saw a negro coming towards him.

"What have you got on you?" the negro impudently inquired as he came within reaching distance of the pipe fitter.

Clark had a big 18-inch wrench in his hand and it was black. On account of the darkness the negro failed to see it but in another instant he felt it. With one blow the pipe fitter felled him. Thinking the highwayman might have a gun and attack him, the pipe fitter hurried to the depot and notified the police, but the negro had disappeared.

FOOTBALL GAME.

Cairo Team Here to Play High School Boys.

The Cairo High school football team arrived this morning to play a game with the Paducah High school team this afternoon at Wallace park.

The teams are about evenly matched, except possibly that the visitors are a little heavier than the locals. This will be the first game this season between the two teams and on account of the everlasting rivalry between the two cities, the game will be interesting.

The local team has played one game this season with the Metropolis boys and was defeated badly. The locals claim that two members of the Metropolis team were not high school pupils, that one was a postgraduate and not eligible to play. The two members are strong stays of the team and had the rules been strictly adhered to, the result might have been different, the locals think.

Business in Paducah is reported satisfactory for this season of the year, and most of the merchants are preparing for the holiday season.

This week many eastern drummers have been here with their fall and winter lines, and some with spring goods, and all had good trade. The retail trade is improving steadily, although it has not reached the proportions expected before the month is half gone.

No Place Like Paducah.

Mr. L. C. Perry, who left Paducah a short time ago for California seeking a location, and returned yesterday, says there is no place like Paducah, and that he will reopen his place of business at Seventh and Jackson streets again tonight. This is the second time Mr. Perry has come to this conclusion. He located in Florida a year or two ago, but couldn't stay away from Paducah, and now says he is fully convinced that Paducah is the place.

Dun's Weekly Review.

New York, Nov. 4.—Dun's Weekly Trade Review says: Cooler weather has stimulated the retail demand for seasonable merchandise, improving the tone of business where there had been more or less irregularity, but the reports are still somewhat mixed as to collections.

Supplementary orders are coming to primary markets for wearing apparel, and in many cases shipments would show still larger gains over the same time last year if transporting facilities were better. There is still a very close comparison of railway earnings, which were only 9 per cent larger than in October 1904.

Failure returns were very favorable in October, liabilities falling to 36 per cent, behind last year's.

Failures this week in the United States were 202 against 229 the corresponding week last year.

Total Bank Clearings.

New York, Nov. 4.—The total bank clearings compiled by Bradstreet's for the principal cities of the United States the past week, are $2,994,908,181, an increase of 4.9 per cent as compared with the corresponding period last year.

MR. KILGORE HERE.

It is Expected That the Coopers Company Will Be Rebuilt.

Col. J. L. Kilgore of the Paducah Coopers Co. arrived in Paducah this morning from his home in Anderson, Ind., to look after the work of rebuilding the heading plant which burned yesterday morning.

Other members of the corporation will arrive today and tomorrow and state that the work of rebuilding will begin as soon as possible. It will require two months, it is estimated, to rebuild and get into shape again for operation.

The owners of the concern say the loss will not amount to as much as first mentioned, but can not give out any figures yet.

The ruins are still smoldering, but the fire is being gradually fought out.

After people have tried a certain number of times to get a good cook they try to get a restful one.

NEW POINT RAISED ABOUT TAXING TIES

Important Question to be Settled by Court of Appeals.

Claimed That to Tax Ties Would Be Interfering With Interstate Commerce.

BRIEF BEING PREPARED HERE.

A brief has just been completed by Attorney C. C. Grassham in which two novel and new points are argued. It is in the suit of the Ayer & Lord Tie company against Sheriff Koehn, of Ohio county, Ky. There is a case in the court of appeals now that was taken up from Ohio county the decision in which will affect all ties, lumber and other property of corporations and persons on river banks.

Heretofore the court of appeals has held that railroad ties are taxable just the same as other personal property although the owner may be a non-resident of the state of Kentucky.

The case now in the court was taken up from Ohio county, where ties were sought to be taxed and is to be submitted this month. Two additional and new points have been raised as to why ties are not taxable. One is that at taxing time the ties were entered with a common carrier for immediate shipment, and the other is that what were not in actual course of transportation were simply checked temporarily on the river banks awaiting loading for immediate shipment. If either of the points are held good as a defense it will be up on the idea, stated Mr. Grassham that to tax ties would be an interference by the state of interstate commerce, which is regulated by congress alone. The main point is that taxation would be a violation of the federal constitution.

As stated these points are entirely new and the result is being anxiously awaited by all tie companies as well as by the shippers of the state where ties are manufactured and handled. Mr. Grassham represents the Ayer & Lord Tie company. His brief is ready and will be mailed to the clerk of the court of appeals at once.

SOON NABBED.

Was Bud Mute When He Returned to Paducah.

John, alias "Bud," Mute, colored, was arrested this morning by Officer Ernest H. H. on a warrant charging him with house-breaking, the crime alleged to have been committed November 3, 1903.

Mute is alleged to have broken into Mack Smith's house by breaking open the door while Smith was away. He is alleged to have taken $3.50 in money, a ring, some whiskey and other articles.

The negro had been out of the city until recently when he returned. Officer Hill located him and this morning ran up against him at Berry's grocery on North Eighth street. Mute failed to give bond this morning and was locked up. He will be given a trial next week.

Mute had been eluding the police for more than two years, and thought that everything was forgotten by the officers.

This is how the police get hold of many criminals. Each policeman in Paducah is given daily instructions as to who is wanted. He makes a note of it in his note book and enters a description. Police in Paducah are trained in memory and a criminal may remain away several years but he will certainly get nabbed on his return.

There will be a special meeting this evening in the grill room at the Palmer house of the Paducah Traveling Men's club to hear a report from Treasurer Simon Hecht as to the amount that was made out of the carnival recently given by the Paducah Traveling Men's carnival association.

Mr. Hecht has been paying bills and he stated this afternoon that his report will state that about $500 was made out of the show. He has the net proceeds down to Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 4.—Three children are dead and one badly wounded, and their step-mother is fatally injured as a result of a tragedy at the home of James Brennan a fireman, this morning. The step-mother says a stranger shot the children through a window. The police think she did the shooting while temporarily deranged. She had tried to suicide twice previously.

NOW ON THE WORLD

MR. IRVIN S. COBB ACCEPTS A FINE PLACE IN NEW YORK.

Given Charge of the Short Story
Department At a Big Salary.

Mr. Irvin S. Cobb, of Paducah, is now on the staff of the New York World. He went to New York little over a year ago, and while he had a number of good offers, accepted a position on the Sun when he first went there, and from reporter to a desk was quick work for him. He served as special correspondent during the peace conference for the Sun and several European papers, and when he resigned a few days ago he was in charge of one edition of the paper.

Mr. Cobb's place on the Sun, one of the oldest and best papers in New York, was very satisfactory, but the World recognized his ability and made him an offer which he finally accepted. He is now in charge of the short story department of that paper, a responsible as well as lucrative position, and it requires almost three figures to express his weekly salary. Mr. Cobb's many friends will be glad to learn of this additional good fortune. He goes on the World practically as "his own boss," and his new work will be more dignified and pleasant than his former work, as it will give him more time for his literary work proper, in which he is becoming very successful.

NO MASS MEETING

Will Be Held by the Labor People Sunday.

On account of the inability to secure a meeting place for next Sunday sufficiently large to accommodate the masses who have been interested in coming out to the meetings, the committee in charge has decided to postpone the meeting contemplated for next Sunday afternoon, and in its place arrange a labor demonstration to take place in the near future. Every local union has been authorized to take a vote of its membership to ascertain if they will cease work for one day and participate in the celebration in the interest of the locked out street car men, the answers to be submitted to the Central Labor Union by next Wednesday night. If the vote is favorable every man, woman and child in this city will be called upon to participate in the demonstration.

DEATH AT LONE OAK.

Mr. Philip Graham, aged 66, died yesterday afternoon at his home at Lone Oak, this county, from pneumonia, after a brief illness. He had been a resident of the Lone Oak section for many years and was a highly respected man. His wife, three sons and three daughters survive him.

The funeral took place this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at New Liberty church.

Theatrical Notes

THE KENTUCKY.

Monday and Tuesday evenings with special matinee Tuesday afternoon.

The Jule Foreman Musical Comedy company in "Cinderella."

Wednesday evening:

Frank L. Perley's production of Doty & Perley's new musical comedy success, "The Winning Girl," direct from the Garrick theater, St. Louis.

"Cinderella."

Miss Jule Foreman, starring at the head of The Jule Foreman Musical Comedy company in "Cinderella," will appear at The Kentucky Monday and Tuesday evenings and special matinee for ladies and children Tuesday afternoon. In this production, Paducah theater-goers are promised one of the cleverest musical comedy productions on the road. Miss Foreman is a prima donna of note and her reputation is known from coast to coast. This will be her first tour under a southern manager, for Mr. Alley is the first southern manager who has ever ventured sufficient investment to carry a full company of capable people. Miss Foreman's tour this season covers over eighty cities and the company is booked to close its season in St. Louis next May. Miss Foreman and her company will present a number of interpolated singing and dancing numbers to furnish an up to date veneer to the tenebrous score. Bobby Nolan, the Kentucky boy from Louisville, is one of the principal comedians and his press notices credit him with a big hit in the comedy. The Doty, which Frank L. Perley will present at The Kentucky on Wednesday evening is proudly heralded by the press as "the one show of mirth and melody with a well defined plot." Charles W. Doty, the author of this unique, cross-country comedy in musical setting, first sprang into fame as a writer of comic songs, later on he had "Common Sense Bracket" produced by Henry W. Savage, and now makes his debut as a musical comedy librettist. Like George Ade, George M. Cohan and the late Charles Hoyt, Mr. Doty insists upon a logical story consistently told and well acted, and takes great pride in proclaiming the fact that "The Winning Girl," although a musical comedy, can be played as a straight comedy, and that it was accepted by the first theatrical manager (Mr. Perley) to whom it was submitted.

The company includes Caroline Hull in the leading part, supplemented by Mabel Fenton, Blanche Deyo, Caroline Locke, Frederick Bond, Charles J. Ross, Fletcher Norton, Harry Fairleigh and half a hundred of the handsomest young women in the chorus that Mr. Perley's agents could secure. The production was staged under the personal direction of CAROLINE HULL, IN "THE WINNING GIRL," AT THE KENTUCKY WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

Thomas A. Wise, while Joseph Phynoc has excelled himself in the handsome settings.

The Past Week.

Every evening the past week has witnessed the rising of the curtain at The Kentucky and the patronage has been uniformly satisfactory. While no reigning metropolitan successes have graced the boards the attractions presented were of wide variety and served to amuse and entertain patrons of the house. On last Monday evening Miss Alberta Gallatin in supporting company is said to be large and capable and the well trained chorus is a feature. There are some twenty vocal numbers in "Cinderella" and all are tuneful and catchy. At the special matinee Tuesday afternoon for ladies and children each child that attends will be presented with a handsome bag of candy.

"The Winning Girl."

"The Winning Girl," the new mu-her visit was most enjoyable. The Forbidden Land, the Tibetan opera success of last season, paid The Kentucky a second visit Tuesday evening and a large crowd of theatergoers reaffirmed the verdict passed upon the production last season with numerous recalls and prolonged applause. Of the original company, W. H. Clark with his phenomenal basso, as the Tarjumi, and Abbott Adams as Combo, have been retained in the present season's cast. Edward Garvie as Benjamin Barclay, the health food inventor from Battle Ax, Mich., and Chas. A. Morgan as Kinkaboo, scored hits in the comedy roles. The remainder of the cast and the chorus were not up to the standard of excellence attained by their predecessors. The German dialect comedians, Mason and Mason, in "Fritz and Snitz," advertised as a musical comedy, but in reality a farce on very broad but entertaining lines, were well received by a fairly large and appreciative audience, Wednesday evening. The Jewell Stock company in a repertoire of entertaining bills at popular prices, round out the week. Mr. Kelly and his supporting company deserved the large patronage accorded them and the clever specialties were worth many times the price of admission. At the Saturday matinee, Little Lord Fauntleroy was presented to a crowded house.

The Stage Elsewhere.

The most successful productions of the early dramatic season have been, The Prodigal Son, Hall Caine's latest American success with E. H. Morgan as the star; James K. Hackett and Mary Mannering in Alfred Sutro's "The Walls of Jericho;" Margaret Anglin in "Zira," a play by J. Hartley Manners and Henry Miller; Otis Skinner in Clyde Fitch's play, "His Grace De Grammont;" George Ade's comedy, "Just Out of College;" John Drew in "De Laney;" Henrietta Crossman in "Mary, Mary, Quite Contrary;" Maxine Elliott in "Her Great Match;" Edna May in "The Catch of the Season;" William Faversham in "The Squaw Man;" Robert Lorraine in "Man and Superman;" Chauncey Olcott in "Edmund Burke;" Maude Feale in "The Truth Tellers;" Henry E. Dixey in "The Man on the Box;" Blanche Bates in "The Girl of the Golden West;" Thomas Ross in "A Fair Exchange" by Henry M. Blossom; Mad. Bertha Kalish in Maeterlinck's "Monna Vanna;" Francis Wilson in "Cousin Billy;" Marie Cahill in "Moonshine;" De Wolf Hopper in "Happyland;" Raymond Hitchcock in "Easy Dawson;" and Eddie Foy in "The Earl and The Girl."

Failures.

Hal Reid and Bertha Westbrook's Biblical drama, "The Nazarene," was taken off the boards after a few performances at the Studbaker theater, Chicago. Charles Dalton, Bigelow Cooper and Margaret Wycheley scored hits but the production, according to the critics was poorly constructed and the action too slow.

Bernard Shaw's play, Mrs. Warren's Profession, was suppressed by Inspector McAdoo after its initial performance in New York, as being immoral and unfit for presentation. Although threatened with the terrors of the law, Arnold Daly insists that the drama is a moral sermon and that he intends reviving it at a later date.

George Ade's "The Bad Samaritan" which was claimed to be a failure earlier in the season and was shelved after a few performances, is to be resurrected, revised and put out on the road for a try at the one night stands.

John Drew who was recently elected president of the Players' club, to succeed the late Joseph Jefferson, was given a big reception at the club house in New York City last week, which was followed by a banquet seldom equaled in brilliancy in that city. The attendance included many well known men in literary and financial life, as well as most of the prominent actors now in New York.

New York productions of the past week which are winning praise and profits, are, Mr. George Edwards English Musical company, including Miss Ruth Vincent and Mr. John Le Hay, in "Veronique," a musical play which has been running over a year in London with unusual success; libretto from the French, by Henry Hamilton; music by Andre Messager. Both Mr. Edwards and Mr. Messager attended the initial performance at the Broadway theater. Klaw and Erlanger big Drury Lane spectacle, "The White Cat" opened at the New Amsterdam theatre Nov. 2, to a crowded and delighted house. "The White Cat" employs more artists than any of the Drury Lane productions that K. and E. have yet presented on this side of the "pond," and the scenic and mechanical effects are more stupendous than any that have ever been utilized on the American stage. Mrs. Leslie Carter in a revival of "Zaza;" Robert B. Mantell in "Richellee" and "Othello;" E. H. Sothorn and Julia Marlowe in "The Merchant of Venice;" Ben Greet's company in an Elizabethan production of "King Henry Fifth" and Proctor's Fifth Avenue Stock Co. including Amelia Bingham and Chas. Richman, in Oscar Wilde's comedy "Lady Windemere's Fan" are all attributed with artistic and financial success.

Olga Nethersole opened her American tour October 23 at the National theater, Washington, D. C., in "The Labyrinth," an adaptation of Paul Hervieu's "Le Dedale;" by W. L. Courtney. It had been three years since the French actress appeared in this country. Her welcome at the Capitol was cordial and her ovation was of sufficient proportions to signify that the audience considered her "Marianne" in the play, a worthy and virile successor to her Sappho. Miss Nethersole's new play treats of divorce, but from a novel standpoint, as it shows the uncontrollable instinct of a woman to return to the man who is the father of her child. It is nature's argument against divorce where there are children to the marriage. The supporting company includes Mr. Hamilton Keville, Mr. Hubert Carter and Miss Dorothy Grimston, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kendall.

"The Marriage of William Ashe," Margaret Mayo's dramatization of Mrs. Humphrey Ward's novel, received its premier October 24 at Newburg, N. Y., before an enthusiastic audience. Grace George is being starred in the play by her husband and manager (Wm. A. Brady) and it is reported that she has been provided with a role destined to equal her portrayal of Camille.

Chas. Frohman is to star Miss Elizabeth Johnson, daughter of Mayor Tom Johnson of Cleveland, Ohio, as soon as a suitable vehicle can be found. Miss Johnson is a cousin of Mr. David M. Flounoy of this city, and has friends here.

Mr. Metcalfe, editor of Life, says in a recent issue of that paper, that Miss Margaret Anglin's work in "Zira" is the best emotional acting that has been done on the American stage in several seasons.

Large Crowd Sees "Jesse James."

"Jesse James" was put on last night at the Kentucky by the Jewell Kelley Stock company in great shape. There was a large audience present, and it seemed to enjoy the performance immensely. There was more than the usual amount of shooting and killing, and an enormous gallery simply went wild. This afternoon there is a large matinee crowd, and tonight Nick Carter will be the bill.

MONTJOY WALKER

WELL-KNOWN COMEDIAN DIES AT HELENA, ARK.

Had Been Here Several Times, the Last a Few Weeks Ago With Opera Company.

Many theatre-goers of Paducah will regret to learn of the death of Montjoy Walker, the comedian here recently with the Herald Square Opera company. He had been in ill health for some time, and when there last was jokingly dubbed by other members of the company, "the dead man." He could then hardly go on in his parts, and often when making fun for the audience, was suffering agonizing pain. He broke down a few days after leaving Paducah. He had many friends in Paducah, having spent several weeks here three years ago in the opera company at the Casino theatre in Wallace park.

This week's New York Dramatic Mirror says of him:

"Montjoy Walker, a well-known comic opera comedian, died at Helena, Ark., on Oct. 27, and was buried from St. John's church, that city, yesterday, Oct. 30. He was a son of the late Governor Walker, of Virginia, and has a brother living at Elizabethport, N. J. His mother's home is at Elizabeth. Efforts to notify them have been unsuccessful. His last engagements were at the Hippodrome last spring and with a light opera company last summer. He recently joined the Herald Square Opera company."

era company, but was in poor health, and placed in a sanitarium in Helena at the expense of the company in hope of partial recovery through rest and attention. Claude Fitzpatrick, manager of the Grand Opera house at Helena, devoted himself constantly to Walker's comfort during his illness.

All-Hallowe'en Week.

Much of the gaiety of the week has been due to Hallowe'en which was variously and pleasantly honored. These entertainments although necessarily more or less informal in character were elaborate in setting. Outside of the Hallowe'en cycle, however, there were several very notable functions and the usual club meets, so the round has been sufficiently diversified, not to be monotonous even in its gaiety.

For the coming week the leading event will be the wedding of Miss Martha Leech and Mr. Saunders Fowler, which will claim much of society's interest. The presence of many popular out-of-town guests for the occasion will doubtless cause a round of informal affairs not yet announced.

Leech-Fowler Wedding.

A marriage of wide interest by reason of the personal popularity of the couple and the social prominence of their families will be that of Miss Martha Elizabeth Leech and Mr. Saunders A. Fowler on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Armour Gardner on Fountain avenue. The ceremony will be solemnized at 8:30 o'clock by the Rev. T. J. Newell, D. D., of the Broadway Methodist church and a reception will follow.

The bridal party will consist of: Mrs. Armour Gardner, matron of honor; Miss Louise Elizabeth Cox, maid of honor; Mrs. Frank Graham of Memphis, Tenn., and Miss Ruth Kelley of Springfield, Ohio; Mr. William M. Riecke, the best man; Dr. William Christian of Cincinnati, Mr. Richard Rudy and Mr. Gus Thompson. It will be a pink and white wedding and the setting and decorations will be beautifully elaborated in this color-scheme.

After an extended wedding trip the couple will be at home December 1 at "Edgewood" on West Broadway, the handsome home that Mr. Fowler has just built.

A number of prominent out-of-town guests will be present for the occasion, among them:

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac M. Peters of Memphis; Dr. and Mrs. Frank Graham of Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Groseclose of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Walker of St. Louis; Mrs. Geo. Forast of Baton Rouge, La.; Miss Ruth Kelley of Springfield, O.; Mr. James McGee of Memphis; Mr. James Campbell of St. Louis; Dr. William Christian of Cincinnati.

Miss Martha Leech, Honoree.

The card party given by Mrs. Thos. C. Leech on Thursday afternoon in compliment to Miss Martha Leech, a bride of next week, was notable in its cleverness of detail and beauty of setting. The attractive home of the hostess on Fountain avenue was beautiful with flowers. The reception hall was a bower of chrysanthemums, and the parlor was decorated in roses. Carnations were used with pretty effect in the dining-room. An orchestra in the breakfast room played throughout the afternoon.

It was a basket party and the idea was very charmingly elaborated. The tables were daintily Canadian baskets of red and green. All the prizes were pretty work baskets varying in style and decoration. The first prize was won by Miss Marie Cobb, and the visitor's prize by Mrs. W. B. Pace, of Louisville. Mrs. W. B. McPherson won the lone hand prize and Miss Leech received the guest of honor prize. An elaborate course luncheon with pretty individual ices and cakes was attractively served in the dining room after the game. Mrs. Leech's guests were:

The attractive home was effectively decorated with chrysanthemums and dahlias in the colors yellow and white. There were 9 tables at cards and Mrs. Henry Thompson "won the cup," the handsome first prize. For the lone-hand prize, a Japanese mayonnaise bowl and dish, Miss Elizabeth Sinnott and Mrs. D. L. VanCulin tied. Miss Sinnott winning in the cut. The guest of honor prize, presented to Mrs. Tandy, was a pair of white gloves. D. A. R. Chapter.

Paducah chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met with Mrs.

E. G. Boone of South Sixth street on Friday afternoon. It was an especially enthusiastic and interesting meeting. Mrs. Griswold, a member of the Albert Sidney Johnston chapter of Louisville, was the guest of honor of the local chapter. Each member responded to roll call with quotations from Patrick Henry. The general subject, "Colonial Dames and Daughters," was discussed in several clever papers. Mrs. M. B. Nash gave a character sketch of "Anne Hutchinson;" Mrs. L. S. DuBois, of Elizabeth Schuyler; Mrs. Glover, of "Mollie Pitcher;" and Mrs. Leslie Soule, of "Dolly Madison." Mrs. David Flournoy and Mrs. George B. Hart rendered some delightful patriotic music. Miss Emily Morrow reported some interesting notes on the recent state convention at Danville. Two applications were received by the chapter for membership.

An attractive luncheon was served by the hostess during the afternoon.

The Paducah's Concert.

The date of the concert at The Kentucky to be given by the local Daughters of the American Revolution for the silver service to the gunboat Paducah, has been changed to the 16th. Mr. Gilbert hopes by then to have his big orchestra quite perfect. It will be a most delightful and noteworthy occasion. The tickets will be priced very low so that everyone may feel free to go, for it is the desire to make this an affair for the entire city to attend. There will be many attractive features and the program will be one to give pleasure. "Standing Room Only" should be the high mark set for that evening.

Enjoyable Occasion.

Miss Louise Neible, of South Ninth street, was pleasantly surprised on Monday evening by a number of her friends and the evening was very enjoyably spent.

Those present were: Misses Louise Neible, Lila May Craft, Josie Griffin, Roxie Sneed, Mattie Taylor, Eunice Mansfield, Rosa Humphrey, Jessie Randle, Ollie Randle, May Vandeveld; Messrs. Hallowe'en Parties.

Miss Virginia Newell entertained the Crescendo club and their guests on Tuesday evening at her home on North Seventh street. It was the opening meeting of the club and was a most charming Hallowe'en indoor fete, every detail of the artistic decorations being suggestive of the day. Garlands of Autumn leaves, scarlet berries and yellow chrysanthemums emphasized the Hallowe'en colors, red, green and yellow, very beautifully, and were gracefully festooned about the reception hall and parlors. The only illumination was from red-shaded lights and Jack-o'-Lanterns, which added a weird touch to the pretty scene. Miss Anna Eades as a phantom and Miss Zetta Roberts as a witch received the guests at the door. In the hall was a gypsy tent where Miss Caroline Ham and Miss Allie D. Foster, appropriately costumed as which various Hallowe'en diversions were enjoyed. In the back parlor which was a pretty effect in red and black with many miniature black cats in evidence, hot chocolate was served from a witch's cauldron hung on a tripod. A pretty luncheon was served, with clever souvenir cards foretelling the future in rhyme and picture of each person. About seventy-five guests were present.

Clyde Warren was the host at a delightful Hallowe'en party on Tuesday evening at his home in the Scott Flats on Broadway. The rooms were effectively decorated in holly and ferns, with Jack-o'-Lanterns in the corners and animal pictures galore on the walls and curtains. In a weirdly-lighted den a mysterious fortune-teller told the fate of the young people. Little Misses Ruth Hinkle, Frances Hayes and Laura Towns were the spooks. The music was furnished by Futrell's orchestra and dancing was a feature of pleasure. An elaborate supper was attractively served. The guests were: Misses Elizabeth Boswell, Ellen Boswell, Sadie Smith, Mildred Soule, Lucette Soule, Mary Cave, Elsie Hodge, Helen Van Meter, Julia Dabney, Ethel Sights, Anna Hayes, Mary B. One of the merriest Hallowe'en parties was given by Miss Estella Kettler at her home on South Third street on Tuesday evening. The house was effectively decorated with autumn leaves, Jack-o'-Lanterns, snakes and spiders. The guests were attired as hob-goblins. Various Hallowe'en fortunes were tried with apples and nuts. Delightful ices were served during the evening and carnations were given each guest as souvenirs.

Misses Lillian, Annie and Olie Atkins entertained a number of their little friends with an enjoyable Hallowe'en party at their home on West Broadway on Tuesday night. Various games and pleasures were enjoyed until 9:30 o'clock, when a delightful and elaborate supper was served in the dining room.

Fitzpatrick's Unequaled COLD CREAM

Is absorbed almost instantly by the skin and loosens up the dirt and origin matter which fills up the pores of the skin, producing black-heads and eventually troublesome pimples. The astringent properties of the alkali in most soaps has a tendency to draw the skin and close up the pores, thus instead of filling it office as a cleansing agent it interferes with nature's process of throwing off the impurities from the body. Call at our store and get a sample of Fitzpatrick's Cold Cream and be convinced of its excellency.

How to Cure Rheumatism

I searched the whole earth for a specific for Rheumatism—something that I or any physician could feel safe in prescribing—something that we could count on not only occasionally, but with reasonable certainty. For the ravages of Rheumatism are everywhere and genuine relief is rare. After twenty years of search and experiment, I learned of the German chemical I now employ. And I knew then that my search and my efforts were well rewarded. For this chemical, in combination with others, gave me the basis of a remedy which in the cure of Rheumatism is practically certain. In many, many tests and difficult cases this prescription has with regularity justified the confidence I had in it. Mild cases are sometimes reached by a single package—for sale by 10,000 drug stores.

I don't mean that Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Tablets can turn bony joints into flesh again and never fail—that is impossible. But they will with reasonable certainty drive from the blood the poison that causes pain and swelling, and then that is the end of the suffering—the end of Rheumatism.

Any Rheumatic sufferer who writes may receive my little book on Rheumatism, including professional advice as to diet, etc., free. With the book I will also send, without charge, my "Health Token," an intended passport to good health. Address Dr. Shoop, Box 411, Racine, Wis. Single package—for sale by 10,000 drug stores.

CUT OUT POLITICS.

by the burden of every speech made by the Democratic orators, the constantly repeated exhortation of the heeler and bun worker in the city campaign is "Vote the Democratic ticket straight," says the Owensboro Inquirer. That is the weight of argument that is being offered, and it is not good argument. The city of Owensboro never progressed beyond what might have been expected of an overgrown country village until it threw politics to the dogs, and in the four years when a council elected regardless of political lines, the advancement in everything marking municipal progress was greater than it had been in all of the years before. The Democrats elected a majority of the succeeding council, and it had the advantage of falling heir to a lot of unfinished work, with which it was to be expected that it would engage to a fellow because of his matter was forced to admit that partisan government of the city was a failure. He said: "There is no use of denying it. The council elected independent of politics is better for the people than the partisan council. The 'business council' did more in four years than we would do in forty. They did things and the most that we can do is to take care of what they did. There is no initiative among us and there cannot be as long as we are dominated by politics."

President Roosevelt says: The worst evils that affect our local governments arise from and are the inevitable result of the mixing up the city affairs with the party politics of the nation and the state. The lines upon which national parties divide have no necessary connection with the business of the city. Such connections open the way to countless schemes of public plunder and civic corruption.

The fusionists and democratic machine at Louisville seem to be busy matching wits. The fusionists announced some time ago that the democrats were extending the glad hand to crooks of all description so they could vote them next week, and an epidemic of burglaries and hold-ups bore them out to such an extent that the people began to wax indignant. The democratic administration now seeks to turn the tables by admitting that the city is full of suspicious characters and by ordering them all arrested, and claims that they were attracted by reports in the fusion papers that Louisville was wide open to the light-fingered gentry. Thus they see-saw, and the citizen of Louisville who will not be glad when the election is over would probably be hard to find just now.

Taxpayers, do you want to continue to have a tax rate of 1.65 or 1.85, or do you want a reduction of 50 cents without the loss of a single comfort? If you elect the democratic candidates for the general council, you burden yourself for another two years with the same mismanagement, incompetency and extravagance you now have. If you elect the republican nominee, you will get a big reduction in tax rate and a strictly business administration, free from graft and wastefulness. Which do you think you should take? Which are you going to take?

High taxes without just returns are a curse to rich and poor alike. The rich have to pay directly, and the poor indirectly, but the burden is greater on the poor. Every man should go to the polls Tuesday and forget politics long enough to cast his vote for good men. The democrats have proven by their official acts that they are for high taxes without

AMERICAN LIFE INSURANCE

Costs too much, says Walter Wellman in Review of Reviews. Mr. Wellman writes entertainingly on the subject of American Life Insurance in the October Life Insurance. You should read his article and be convinced. He says that reform in American companies need reformation, as the foreign companies manage their business so that the cost is only about $9.00 per thousand while American companies average about $18.00 or double that amount. He gives 25 leading companies as a ratio and among them The MUTUAL BENEFIT as costing only $7.64 or about $2.00 LESS than foreign companies and LESS THAN ONE-HALF the average rate of American companies. He further says the cause of this difference is a mad rush for LARGE business at the expense of old policy holders. IF YOU have a POLICY on which you have paid ONE to EIGHT years bring it to the undersigned and he will get you a settlement and give you a much better contract with ANNUAL DIVIDENDS.

adequate returns, and do not even promise any improvement. The republicans are all well known business men who promise a reduction in taxation and who will keep their promise. Can any sensible man doubt the course he should pursue?

The court of appeals is keeping pretty busy affirming suits in which big damages were awarded. One suit to be decided soon is that in which a young Paducah woman was awarded $4,000 damages against the city of Paducah for being injured as a result of the city's not fencing in a dangerous hollow. If this case is affirmed it will mean another large amount for the taxpayers to pay on account of the carelessness and indifference to public welfare of city officials. It would be cheaper to put good men in office.

Judging from reports, many democrats in Paducah have abandoned hope of electing the democratic city ticket, and will be secretly glad to see it defeated. The republican candidates for county office are also receiving much encouragement. The main cry that is going up from all sides is, "Give us a change."

The mayor of Henderson was a little too hasty. He tried to beat the president in issuing a Thanksgiving proclamation, and fixed the anniversary for November 23. The president has set aside November 30th, and the burning question now is, when is Henderson to offer thanks?

The city administration must be frustrated over its coming defeat next week, as it let the street lights burn part of the time last night when the moon was up.

NEW WINTER RESORT. SEASON 1905-1906.

The Beautiful Sapphire Country.

To the man whose imagination is fed with facts and fortified with observation, the southern portion of the United States will always seem the favorite child of Omnipotence and its handmaiden—Nature. Practically every resource that ministers to the wealth and greatness of a people has been lavishly placed within its borders.

Though the Creator of this full-bosomed magnificence dwells neither here nor there—but everywhere—we like, in all reverence, to call these Southern States indeed "God's country." One who knows the south realizes how, after material gifts had been so generously bestowed, the designing power completed its work by dotting it liberally with those imperative auxiliaries of modern civilization—resorts, summer and winter. In the case of the South these resorts have proven not only protectors of our people's health, they are adding now and then will add substantially in the future to our actual wealth.

The Florida resorts need no detailed eulogy at this date. They have won already thousands of wealthy Northerners and Southerners from the lure of the European spa or the call of the Riviera. A more wonderful conquest, and one which should interest the entire South, is that of the radiant Sapphire country, that Eden of the North Carolina mountains, with which the word "Toxaway" has become inseparably identified. Its beauties and its health-compelling qualities have been open to civilization for only a few years, relatively; yet "Toxaway" means to a host of Southern and Northern people today recreation and recuperation under conditions as ideal as can be arranged by the co-partnership of man and Nature.

The six hotels under the management of the Toxaway Hotel Company, with Mr. J. C. Burrows at its head, have been instrumental in this rapid achievement. The Sapphire country itself has done the rest. The hostilities have been artfully located, getting the wide benefits which come from altitudes ranging from 2,250 to 4,750 feet. The far-reaching estate of Toxaway comprises 31,000 acres, in which are more than seventy-five miles of brook and river fishing, yielding the gamiest of game trout. In the rugged recesses of the estate there are deer, wild turkey and ruffed grouse, with bears here and there and occasionally quail. The three lakes, like shimmering sapphires splashed down in the heart of the mountains, with the winding forest roads, create indelible impressions of the place.

With the opening of the winter season Toxaway Inn—the greatest of all the Toxaway resorts—announces itself ready for business for the approaching season after having completed the most successful summer season known in the history of Southern resorts.

From this time on this institution becomes not only a summer but a winter resort, appealing to the South in the summer and to the north in the winter. It is on the direct line of travel from eastern and western points to Florida, and Manager Burrows has made every arrangement to catch the business as it goes to and comes from Florida.

And it is safe to say that those who stop to take in the beauties of the Toxaway country will be amply compensated, for in the matter of scenic attractions there is nothing like this side of the Rocky Mountains—Constitution, Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 12, 1905.

Caldwell, the former agent here, gave the above the greater part of the premium for the first year, for instance one man getting a $10,000 policy for only $15 and one a $5,000 policy for $11.15. $341 was knocked off the first and $135 off the other. MOTHER AND CHILD.

Let the mother take Scott's Emulsion for the two; it never fails to benefit them both. One can eat for two, but nourishing two is a different thing. It calls for a degree of internal strength that the average woman lacks. People of luxury are not very strong by habit; overworked people are weak in some functions from exhaustion or their surroundings. Scott's Emulsion can be depended upon to overcome such conditions. It is a wonderful food for a mother and child.

TWO CASES ON TRIAL AT SAME TIME TODAY

Hodge Damage Suit Goes to Jury Late in Afternoon.

Special Judge Thomas Crice is Hearing Suit on Insurance Policy.

SOME NEWS OF OTHER COURTS.

Two cases are being tried in circuit court at the same time today. Attorney Thomas Crice, sitting as a special judge, is trying one in the county court room and Judge Wm. Reed the other in the circuit court room.

The case of Mrs. M. E. Head against Cheatham Hodge for $20,000 damages, will go to the jury late this afternoon. The evidence was concluded last night and speaking began this morning. Each side is allowed 2 1/2 hours and the first speech was made by Attorney Robbins for the defendant. Attorney Smith for the plaintiff followed and was succeeded by Attorney John K. Hendrick who was speaking at press time. He will be followed by Attorney Shelborne for the plaintiff and Attorney Sam Crossland will then speak for the defense and other lawyers interested in the case will consume the remainder of the time, if there is any.

The case is probably the biggest on the docket. Mrs. Head asks damages for the death of her husband, for whose assassination she seeks to hold Hodge responsible.

Special Judge T. C. Crice is hearing the suit of Mrs. H. C. Allison, administratrix of the estate and will of H. C. Allison, her deceased husband against the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company, of Philadelphia, for $5,000. The plaintiff says that the deceased held a policy in the company for that amount and the company refused to pay it.

Attorney D. G. Park was fined $5 this morning for contempt of court in failing to put in his appearance at the proper time.

County Court.

Three deeds have been filed in county court where the properties of the People's Home Telephone Co. are transferred to E. L. Barber & Co. of Ohio.

Clyde V. Allen and Myrtle Wiman the former of Paducah and latter of Lowes, Ky., were today licensed to wed.

Cecil Reed, M. C., deeds to J. C. Coghill, for $97 1/2 property in the county.

Avery Pieper, aged 20, and Ona Fisher, aged 17, of the city, were today licensed to wed. It will make the first marriage of both.

Special Judge to Try the Case.

Police Judge D. L. Sanders announced this morning that attorneys would have to decide on some one to sit in the case against Ellis Drane, colored, charged with robbery as he could not sit.

Drane has been identified as the negro who snatched a bag containing opera glasses from Miss Ella Sanders several weeks ago. Miss Sanders is a daughter of Judge Sanders and on this account Judge Sanders does not desire to try the case.

A continuance was granted until Wednesday in order to give the defendant time to procure witnesses, and the attorney's time to decide on some one to try the case.

Police Court.

"Green" Sanford whose color is morning. The negro was charged with gaming and although he admitted being in the game, declared he was not guilty of shooting craps, and gave the court a very minute description of the game in explanation of his allegations.

Judge Sanders couldn't see how Sanford was in the game "fading" and not be gaming, and assessed a fine of $20 and costs.

Tom Carlet, his partner, was granted a continuance until tomorrow.

Ernest Ozment and Wood Jones, charged with stealing some canned goods and a sack of flour and selling them to another for 60 cents, were held over to the grand jury and recognized for their appearance.

A very strong question came up in the case and Judge Sanders thinks it will finally mean a construction by the court of appeals. The grocer missed the goods and goods of the same character were found in Jones and Ozment's possession. There are other grocers selling the same brand of goods and no positive proof was had that the boys stole the goods.

The boys did not claim that the goods belonged to them but simply asked Mr. Sands if he desired to buy them. The court of appeals has decided that even by action if not by words, a person conveys the idea of impression that stolen goods is his and disposes of it with the purchaser laboring under this impression, he is guilty of obtaining money by false pretenses. The evidence did not show that Jones or Ozment attempted to convey any idea to Sands, however, and Judge Sanders held them over for the grand jury to act on their case.

Other cases were: Charles Davis white, drunkenness $1 and costs; Ernest Hemenway, white, breach of the peace, dismissed; Andy Tucker, colored, breach of the peace $5 and costs; Tom Ellis, Jim Henderson, colored, breach of the peace, $10 and costs against Ellis and dismissed as to the other; Ed. Reed, colored, breach of the peace, $5 and costs; Tub Shannon, malicious shooting, continued.

Y. M. C. A. Notes.

There will be a meeting of the Men's Bible class tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Young Men's Christian Association and all visitors are especially invited. Secretary Godfrey will lead the class.

The board of directors of the association met last night and discussed routine matters and planned for some future work.

Secretary Godfrey proposes to begin the organization of the Business Men's gymnasium class next week. It will take some time to get this class up as each man who is to become a member will have to be seen individually. However, the secretary proposes to make this class a feature of the year's work.

PADUCAH ACROBAT TURNS A TRIPLE

Dan O'Brien Performs This Rare Feat in Hippodrome.

Began "Turning Flips" When a Boy Near Langstaff Lumber Yards.

IS NOW A NOTED PERFORMER.

Acrobats in the east are marveling at the feat of a former Paducah boy, Dan O'Brien, who recently turned a triple somersault. O'Brien is well remembered by many of the older residents, and Capt. Cal Wagner says that O'Brien who was then known as "Bill," John Galvin and Joe Belmont began their circus practice years ago while boys, on a sawdust and shaving pile about where the McKinney warehouse now is on Second street. All three later became well-known circus performers.

The New York Mirror for this week says of O'Brien:

"Dan O'Brien, the acrobat, who leads the leapers at the Hippodrome, accomplished the remarkable feat of throwing a triple somersault on Oct. 23. The trick was done at a morning rehearsal and was witnessed by Frank Melville, Thomas Cook and John Davenport, as well as by dozens of the stage hands and other attaches of the house. It had been the ambition of O'Brien's life to do a triple somersault from a springboard, but the fate of many others who had tried it deterred him until he could no longer resist the temptation. The arrangements were made accordingly and O'Brien's fellow performers, who all realized the risk he was taking, stood about on the big stage, hoping that the daring man would succeed. He took the run down the incline, struck the board with great force and began his revolutions. The little audience stood in breathless silence as they watched the supple body turn three times in the air before landing on the mat. O'Brien seemed dazed for a moment, but he jumped to his feet, smiling, and received the warmest congratulations from all sides. He declared later on that he remembered nothing after the second turn and was greatly relieved when he found that he was unhurt. The first man to try a triple somersault was an acrobat in Van Amburgh's circus in Mobile in 1842. His neck was broken. William Hobbes made the attempt in London in 1845. He was killed instantly. John Amar tried it in the Isle of Wight in 1859. He broke his neck. Others attempted the third turn but all met with misfortune. The only person who accomplished the feat more than once was John Worland. Between the years 1874 and 1884 he turned the triple somersault six times in different places."

Three Express Offices Burned.
Georgetown, Ky., Nov. 4.—A fire destroyed the buildings in which were located the offices of the American, the Adams and the United States Express companies.

In the same buildings the Western Union telegraph office is located. The loss will reach $3,000.

Mine Guards Acquitted.
Sturgis, Ky., Nov. 4.—The twenty guards on trial before Judge Clemens were acquitted, thus ending a long and much aggravated fight. A hard fight was made by Hon. George S. Wilson and G. T. Berry to have them fined, but Hon. H. D. Allen and W. J. Cox were equally as eager for the defense.

Marriages in Caldwell.
Princeton, Ky., Nov. 4.—Allen Hart and Miss Ada Malone, of the Ohio Pond country, were married here. Mr. Walter W. Jenkins and Miss Irene Wallace, both of Sturgis, were married here.

Deaths in Caldwell County.
Princeton, Ky., Nov. 4.—The 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Young died here.

George Lowe dropped dead of heart failure at his laundry. He took the recent death of his daughter very hard, and doubtless this had much to do with it. This daughter was Miss Clara Lowe. She had been teaching school at Bakers Station and contracted a severe cold which developed into bronchial pneumonia and caused her death after a week's indisposition. She was 18 years of age and graduated from the High school in 1904.

Commercial Club at Henderson.
Henderson, Ky., Nov. 4.—A commercial club was organized here with 225 members. Chas. E. Damm was elected president, H. S. Kirby first vice-president and R. P. Farnsworth second vice-president.

College Girls Go Home.
Hopkinsville, Ky., Nov. 4.—All of the young women of South Kentucky College, which was burned Thursday, left for their homes today, and the female department of the school will for the present be suspended. Temporary classrooms will be provided for the male students who were housed in the dormitories on the campus. There was $5,000 insurance on the building and this and as much more as can be raised by popular subscription will be used to rebuild the college upon a much larger scale next year.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful It Is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectively cleans and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."

HANDKERCHIEFS TABOOED.

W. C. T. U. Women Will Hereafter Use Small Flags.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 4.—Because they believe disease germs are spread by waving handkerchiefs in the Chautauqua salute so dear to all gatherings of women, the W. C. T. U. has decided to abolish that feature of their meetings. Hereafter individual flags of red, white and blue will be carried by each delegate, and these will replace the handkerchiefs during applause. Just where the idea that handkerchief-waving is not sanitary originated, no one in the convention here seems to know, but at a semi-formal discussion it was agreed that, beyond doubt, whole regiments of germs are liberated every time the Chautauqua salute is given.

Several prominent physicians are in attendance at the convention, and they have informed the ladies that handkerchiefs should be abolished. Today the substitute was much in evidence, and at future meetings a sharp lookout will be kept that no microbes are set free by waving handkerchiefs. It is believed that the plan originated here on account of the fact that many delegates are suffering from slight colds.

The business sessions ended last night, when the state presidents were the guests of honor. Delegates will remain in California several days before leaving for the east.

Many a broken heart is the foundation on which a career is built.

CHAPTER VI.
FORTNIGHT later Montgomery Brewster had a new home. In strict obedience to his chief's command, Nopper Harrison had leased until the September following one of the most expensive apartments to be found in New York city. The rental was $23,000, and the shrewd financial representative had saved $1,000 for his employer by paying the sum in advance. But when he reported this bit of economy to Mr. Brewster he was surprised that it brought forth a frown. "I never saw a man who had less sense about money," muttered Nopper to himself. "Why, he spends it like a Chicago millionaire trying to get into New York society. If it were not for the rest of us he'd be a pauper in six months."

Paul Pettigill, to his own intense surprise and, it must be said, consternation, was engaged to redecorate certain rooms according to a plan suggested by the tenant. The rising young artist in a great flurry of excitement agreed to do the work for $500 and then blushed like a schoolboy when he was informed by the practical Brewster that the paints and material for one room alone would cost twice as much.

"Petty, you have no more idea of business than a goat," cried Nopper. And Paul lowered his head in humble confession. "That man who endorses your studio could figure on a piece of work with more intelligence than you reveal. I'll pay $2,500. It's only a fair price, and I can't afford anything cheap in this place."

"At this rate you won't be able to afford anything," said Pettigill to himself. And so it was that Pettigill and a corps of decorators soon turned the rooms into a confusion of scaffolding and paint buckets, out of which in the end emerged something very distinctive. No one had ever thought Pettigill deficient in ideas, and this was his opportunity. The only drawback was the time limit which Brewster so generously fixed. Without that he felt that he could have done something splendid in the way of decorative painting—something that would make even the glory of Paris de Chateaux turn pallid. With it he was obliged to curb his turbulent ideas and he decided that a rich simplicity was the proper note. The result was gorgeous, but not too gorgeous—it had depth and distinction.

Painted and coated, he assisted Brewster in selecting furniture and hangings for each room, but he did not know that his employer was making conditional purchases of everything Mr. Brewster had agreed with all the dealers to the effect that they were to buy everything back at a fair price if he desired to give up his establishment within a year. He adhered to the rule in all cases that called for the purchase outright of substantial necessities. The bump of calculations in Monty Brewster's head was growing to abnormal proportions.

In retaining his rooms at Mrs. Gray's, he gave the flimsy but pathetic excuse that he wanted a place in which he might find occasional seasons of peace and quiet. When Mrs. Gray protested against this useless bit of extravagance his grief was so obviously genuine that her heart was touched, and there was a deep, fervent joy in her soul. She loved this fair faced boy, and tears of happiness came to her eyes when she was given this new proof of his loyalty and devotion. His rooms were kept for him just as if he had expected to occupy them every day and every night, notwithstanding the luxurious apartments he was to maintain elsewhere. The Oliver Optic books still lay in the attic, all tattered and torn, but to Margaret the embodiment of prospective riches, promises of sweet hours to come. She knew Monty well enough to feel that he would not forget the dark little attic of old for all the splendors that might come with the new dispensation.

There was no little surprise when he sent out invitations for a large dinner. His grandfather had been dead less than a month, and society was somewhat scandalized by the plain symptoms of disrespect he was showing. No one had expected him to observe a prolonged season of mourning, but that he should disregard the formalities completely was rather shocking. Some of the older people, who had not long to live and who had heirs apparent, openly denounced his heartlessness. It was not very gratifying to think of what might be in store for them if all memories were as short as Brewster's. Old Mrs. Ketchell changed her will and two nephews were cut off entirely. A very modest and unassuming grandson of Joseph Garvey was to sustain a severe change of fortune in the near future if the cards spoke correctly. Judge Van Woort, who was not expected to live through the night, got better immediately after hearing some one in the sickroom whisper that Montgomery Brewster was to give a big dinner. Naturally the heirs-to-be condemned young Brewster in no uncertain terms.

Nevertheless the dinner to be given by the grandson of old Elwin Peter Brewster was the talk of the town, and not one of the sixty invited guests could have been persuaded to miss it. Reports as to its magnificence were abundant long before the night set for the dinner. One of them had it that it was to cost $2,000 a plate. From that figure the legendary price receded to a mark as low as $500. Montgomery would have been only too glad to pay $3,000 or more, but some mysterious force conveyed to his mind a perfect portrait of Sweeney Jones in the act of putting down a large black mark against him, and he forbore.

"I wish I knew whether I had to abide by the New York or the Montana standard of extravagance," Brewster said to himself. "I wonder if he ever sees the New York papers."

Late each night the last of the grand old Brewster family went to his bedroom, where, after dismissing his man, he settled down at his desk, with a pencil and a pad of paper. Lighting the candles, which were more easily managed, he found that lamps and much more costly, he thoughtfully and religiously calculated his expenses for the day. Nopper Harrison and Elton Gardner had the receipts for all money spent, and Joe Bragdon was keeping an official report, but the "chief," as they called him, could not go to sleep until he was satisfied in his own mind that he was keeping up the average. For the first two weeks it had been easy—in fact, he seemed to have quite a comfortable lead in the race. He had spent almost $100,000 in the fortnight, but he realized that the greater part of it had gone into the yearly and not the daily expense account. He kept a "profit and loss" entry in his little private ledger, but it was not like any other account of the kind in the world. What the ordinary merchant would have charged to "loss" he jotted down on the "profit" side, and he was continually looking for opportunities to swell the total.

Rawles, who had been his grandfather's butler since the day after he landed in New York, came over to the grandson's establishment, greatly to the wrath and confusion of the latter's Aunt Emeline. The chief came from Paris, and his name was Debut. Ellis, the footman, also found a much better berth with Monty than he had had in the house on the avenue. Aunt Emeline never forgave her nephew for these base and disturbing acts of treachery, as she called them.

One of Monty's most extraordinary financial feats grew out of the purchase of a $14,000 automobile. He blindly admitted to Nopper Harrison and the two secretaries that he intended to use it to practice with only, and that as soon as he learned how to run

His staff officers frequently put their heads together to devise ways and means of curbing Monty's reckless extravagance. They were worried.

"He's like a sailor in port," protested Harrison. "Money is no object if he wants a thing, and—hang it—he seems to want everything he sees."

"It won't last long," Gardner said reassuringly. "Like his namesake, Monte-Christo, the world is his just now, and he wants to enjoy it."

"He wants to get rid of it, it seems to me."

Whenever they reproached Brewster about the matter he disarmed them by saying: "Now that I've got money I mean to give my friends a good time. Just what you'd do if you were in my place. What's money for, anyway?"

"But this $3,000 a plate dinner?"

"I'm going to give a dozen of them, and even then I can't pay my just debts. For years I've been entertained at people's houses and have been taken cruising on their yachts. They have always been bully to me, and what have I ever done for them? Nothing. Now that I can afford it, I am going to return some of these favors and square myself. Doesn't it sound reasonable?"

And so preparations for Monty's dinner went on. In addition to what he called his "efficient corps of gentlemanly aids" he had secured the services of Mrs. Dan DeMille as "social monitor and utility chaperon." Mrs. DeMille was the crown in the papers as the leader of the fast young married set. She was one of the cleverest and best looking young women in town, and her husband was one of those who did not have to be "invited to." Mr. DeMille lived at the club and visited his home. Some one said that he was so slow and his wife so fast that when she invited him to dinner he was usually two or three days late. Altogether Mrs. DeMille was a decided acquisition to Brewster's campaign committee. It required just her touch to make his parties fun instead of funny.

It was on Oct. 18 that the dinner was given. With the skill of a general Mrs. Dan had seated the guests in such a way that from the beginning things went off with zest. Colonel Drew took in Mrs. Valentine, and his content was assured. Mr. Van Winkle and the beautiful Miss Valentine were side by side, and no one could say he looked unhappy. Mr. Cromwell went in with Mrs. Savage, and the same delicate tact—in some cases it was almost delicate—was displayed in the disposition of other guests.

Somehow they had come with the expectation of being bored. Curiosity prompted them to accept, but it did not prevent the subsequent inevitable lassitude. Socially Monty Brewster had yet to make himself felt. He and his diners were accepted hesitatingly, haltingly. People wondered how he had secured the co-operation of Mrs. Dan, but then Mrs. Dan always did go in for a new toy. To her was inevitably attributed whatever success the dinner achieved, and it was no small measure. Yet there was nothing startling about the affair. Monty had decided to begin conservatively. He did the conventional thing, but he did it well. He added a touch or two of luxury, the faintest aroma of splendor. Pettigill had designed the curiously yardward table, with its comfortable atmosphere of companionship, and arranged its decoration of great lavender orchids and lacy butterfly festoons of white ones touched with yellow. He had wanted to use dahlias in their many rich shades, from pale yellow to orange and deep red, but Monty held out for orchids. It was the artist, too, who had found in a rare and happy moment the massive gold candelabra—ancient things of a more luxurious age—and their opalescent shades. Against his advice the service, too, was of gold—"rank vulgarity," he called it, with its rich meaningless ornamentation. But here Monty was obstinate. He insisted that he liked the color and that porcelain had no charm by suggesting that several courses should be served upon Sevres.

Pettigill's scheme for lighting the room was particularly happy. For the benefit of his walls and the four lovely Monets which Monty had purchased at his instigation he had designed a ceiling screen of heavy rich glass in tones of white that grew into yellow and dull green. It served to conceal the lights in the daytime, and at night the glare of electricity was immensely softened and made harmonious by passing through it. It gave a note of quiet to the picture which caused even these men and women, who had been here and there and seen many things, to draw in their breath sharply. Altogether the effect manifestly made an impression.

Such an environment had its influence upon the company. It went far toward making the dinner a success. From far in the distance came the softened strains of Hungarian music, and never had the little band played the "Valse Amoureuse" and the "Valse Bleue" with the spirit it put into them that night. Yet the soft clamor in the dining room insistently ignored the emotion of the music. Monty, bored as he was between the two most important dowagers at the feast, wondered dimly what invisible part it played in making things go. He had a vagrant fancy that without it there would have been no zest for talk, no noisy competition to overcome, no hurdles to leap. As it was, the talk certainly went well, and Mrs. Dan inspected the result of her work from time to time with smiling satisfaction. From across the table she heard Colonel Drew's voice: "Brewster evidently objects to a long siege. He is planning to carry us by assault."

INDIGESTION'S RECORD

"The best remedy I can prescribe for your indigestion, madam, is Green's August Flower. I know of several other physicians who prescribe it regularly."

Indigestion is making an awful record as a cause of sudden deaths. It is beating heart-disease in the ghastly harvest. You read in the papers daily of apparently healthy and even robust men being suddenly attacked with acute indigestion after enjoying a hearty meal, and of their dying in many cases before a physician could be called in.

It should be a warning to you who suffer with regular or periodical attacks of indigestion. If these unfortunate victims of acute indigestion had taken a small dose of Green's August Flower before or after their meals they would not have fallen a prey to such sudden seizures. August Flower prevents indigestion by regular good digestion. It also regulates the liver, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system in a natural way. Two sizes, 25c and 75c. All druggists.

Mrs. Dan turned to Subway Smith, who was at her right—the latest addition to her menagerie. "What is this friend of yours?" she asked. "I have never seen such complex simplicity. This new plaything has no real charm for him. He is breaking it to find out what it is made of, and something will happen when he discovers the sawdust."

"Oh, don't worry about him," said Subway easily. "Monty's at least a good sportsman. He won't complain, whatever happens. He'll accept the reckoning and pay the piper."

It was only toward the end of the evening that Monty found his reward in a moment with Barbara Drew. He stood before her, squaring his shoulders belligerently to keep away intruders, and she smiled up at him in that bewildering fashion of hers. But it was only for an instant, and then came a terrifying din from the dining room, followed by the clatter of crashing glass. The guests tried for a moment to be courteously oblivious, but the noise was so startling that such politeness became farcical. The host, with a little laugh, went down the hall. It was the beautiful screen near the ceiling that had fallen. A thousand pieces of shattered glass covered the place. The table was a sickening heap of crushed orchids and spitting candles. Frightened servants rushed into the room from one side just as Brewster entered from the other. Stupefaction halted them. After the first useless moment of horror exclamations of dismay went up on all sides. For Monty Brewster the first sensation of regret was followed by a diabolical sense of joy.

"Thank the Lord!" he said softly in the hush.

The look of surprise he encountered in the faces of his guests brought him up with a jerk.

"That it didn't happen while we were dining," he added, with serene thankfulness. And his nonchalance scored for him in the idle game he was playing.

NO ICE SEIGE

IS EXPECTED BY RIVER MEN THIS WINTER.

Plenty of Water Will Prevent Ice From Blocking the Channels.

River men are rejoicing in the belief that they will escape a severe ice seige this winter. For two years past the winters have been unusually severe and the cold spells, coming at times when the river was quite low, blocked the channel for weeks. This time, they say, there will be quite a good stage of water at the time when ice gorges would otherwise be most likely to form.

They base this belief principally on the prediction of their prophet, E. P. Coe, of Pittsburg, that there will be a flood beginning December 5 or 6 and continuing for sometime. Practically all of the tribe of river men have implicit confidence in Coe. They say that he has foretold every flood in the Ohio river for the past twenty years, never missing the time of its coming more than a few hours.

The substantial rise which came several days ago is now receding and by the time the season for heavy ice arrives the river will be quite low unless something in the nature of a flood does come. The rise has been sufficient, however, for the moving of a quantity of coal from the Pittsburgh district.

Days in "Home-Coming Week Will Be Named.

Included in the plans for the "Kentucky Home-Coming Week" will be the commemoration of notable Kentuckians on various days. The first day will undoubtedly be named "Foster day" in honor of Stephen Collins Foster, author of "My Old Kentucky Home." The second day will be named in honor of Daniel Boone and a third will be called "Lincoln-Davis day." On Sunday an effect will be made to have the divine services in all Louisville churches celebrated by ministers who have formerly lived in Louisville or Kentucky.

Letters are now being forwarded to more than 200,000 former Kentuckians who live in various parts of the world and whose names have been secured from the state newspapers. In many places the Kentuckians have taken an active interest in the event and it is believed that the crowds which will attend the celebration of the week will break all records for such a celebration. The time for the gathering will be next June.

The answer came back at once: 'We don't take dogs,' and the couple that wanted to go to the hotel were horrified. Later the explanation came. My message, it seems, had been incorrectly transmitted as 'Hold room for self and wife. Ten dogs.'

"Two sportsmen, one in Chicago and one in New York, played a game of billiards by telegraph three years ago. The two tables were divided into small numbered squares, and at the end of each shot the location of the three balls would be telegraphed to the other town, where they would be set up and tackled anew. The game lasted four days, and would have cost a mint of money only the players were telegraph operators.

"Telegrams are never punctuated. You know that. Well, this fact lost a Washington man $500 last May. His wife was very low and he wired to a Philadelphia specialist to come on. An hour later the woman died, and the husband sent another wire, saying: 'Don't come. Too late.'

"But since the message arrived unpunctuated, the Philadelphia specialist abandoned everything and shot into Washington on a special train. Of course, he had to be paid, special train and all. It was a case where a lost period, a lost flyspeck of ink, was the same as a lost piece of coal.

Emperor Francis Joseph to Grant Universal Suffrage to Austria.

Vienna, Nov. 24.—It is stated on good authority that Emperor Francis Joseph has decided to grant universal suffrage to Austria, and has instructed the premier, Baron Gautsch von Frankenthurn, to draft a measure on a comprehensive basis. The decision is attributed to the emperor's desire to satisfy the Socialists and to at the same time impress the Hungarian coalition.

Grave disorders, in which it is reported more than forty persons were injured, occurred as the result of a great Socialist meeting in behalf of universal suffrage. The orators used fiery language, declaring that millions of workers were ready to follow the Russian example. The crowds outside the hall were so great that traffic was stopped for three hours.

After further harangues outside the building, the crowd marched through the streets shouting for revolution. Near the Hofburg the police forced the demonstrators to enter the side streets, causing numerous conflicts, in which several persons were seriously injured, the wild scenes lasting half an hour. Later at night the turbulence was renewed in many parts of the city and many more persons were hurt.

It is alleged that the Socialists stoned the police, compelling them to draw their swords, and it is said that the police acted with brutal violence.

Speaking at Woodville.

Col. Gus Singleton and several other democrats went to Woodville this morning to speak at the democratic meeting billed to take place there this afternoon. The democrats have been drawing poor crowds at every place they have been and they will probably fare no better at Woodville.

PADUCAH SCHOOLS AMONG THE BEST

Children Accepted in Many
Schools on Cards From Paducah.

Our Graduates Now Taken Without
Examinations to Colleges in Western Union.

IMPROVEMENT IS VERY RAPID.

Wonderful progress has been made in the Paducah schools during the past two years, and a more perceptible improvement in teaching and in results is noticed even at this period of the first term of school. Paducah public school pupils are now admitted to almost every school without examination which is very gratifying to the teachers and authorities.

Mr. Charles Q. C. Leigh who recently moved to Chicago, says that his children were admitted to the Chicago schools on the cards issued from Paducah and were placed in the same grades there they were in while attending the Paducah schools. This is one excellent testimonial for the efficiency of the teachers, and shows the recognition accorded the local schools.

The youngest child failed to secure a card from the superintendent and was placed back one grade. It was not more than a week later that he was promoted and placed in a corresponding grade to that he was in here.

High school graduates from the Paducah schools are admitted without examinations to every college in the Western College Union. This was made possible by the recognition given local high school graduates by the University of Missouri and the University of Chicago. Now that these local universities have recognized local graduates thus, the other colleges recognize the same credentials and it is possible for local graduates to go into any of the colleges in the western union.

"I have found Wine of Cardui such a benefit to me," writes Mrs. Leota Forte of Toledo, Ill., "that I shall continue to use it. I cannot praise your medicine enough."

A tired or languid feeling is a sign of weak vitality, and this, in women, is nearly always due to the debilitating influence of female trouble. When your menstrual functions are out of order, they call upon the nerves for help, and your nerves answer the call by throwing into the weak parts all the blood force and vitality they can possibly get together. Of course this weakens the rest of your body. Of course you feel tired and languid. Of course you need outside help to keep up your strength and help to make you well. This necessary help you can get by taking Cardui, the pure, old, reliable, scientific remedy for sick women. For tiredness, weakness, irregular menstruation, monthly pains, dragging sensations, debilitating discharge, and all female complaints, a sure cure is lertful improvement in teaching that I see this year," a local school official stated this morning. "and it is very apparent even at this early date when the schools but have gotten well started."

"I attribute it to the fact that most of the teachers took a special course in teaching during the summer. The normal school conducted here was a success and a world of good was done. There is an interest manifested by the teachers in their work which is soon infused into the pupil. The new methods and late applications are pushing the schools upward daily and the schools are recognized as among the best in the country."

"VOTE AS YOU PRAY."

Is the Watchword of Fusion Candidates in Breathitt.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 4.—"Vote as you pray" is the watchword of the Fusion candidates in Breathitt county at the present time, and today thousands of dodgers were distributed throughout the county of Breathitt and the town of Jackson, signed by S. S. Taulbee, candidate for county judge, and Henry B. Noble, candidate for county school superintendent, appealing to the people to go to the polls next Tuesday and show by their votes that they were opposed to assassination and arson in every form, and rid the county of the ticket headed by Jim Hargis, for county judge, which, they claim, has been back of the many assassinations during the past few years which has brought shame on the entire state.

"If you vote for my opponent,"

says Taulbee, "you endorse what has been done in the past."

There was never a campaign waged in the entire state which carried with it the same amount of anxiety on the part of the candidates and citizens, and it is the firm belief of the best element of Jackson and Breathitt county that bloodshed will result at the polls next Tuesday.

PADUCAH SCHOOLS AMONG THE BEST

Children Accepted in Many
Schools on Cards From Paducah.

Our Graduates Now Taken Without
Examinations to Colleges in
Western Union.

IMPROVEMENT IS VERY RAPID.

Wonderful progress has been made in the Paducah schools during the past two years, and a more perceptible improvement in teaching and in results is noticed even at this period of the first term of school. Paducah public school pupils are now admitted to almost every school without examination which is very gratifying to the teachers and authorities.

Mr. Charles Q. C. Leigh who recently moved to Chicago, says that his children were admitted to the Chicago schools on the cards issued from Paducah and were placed in the same grades there they were in while attending the Paducah schools. This is one excellent testimonial for the efficiency of the teachers, and shows the recognition accorded the local schools.

The youngest child failed to secure a card from the superintendent and was placed back one grade. It was not more than a week later that he was promoted and placed in a corresponding grade to that he was in here.

High school graduates from the Paducah schools are admitted without examinations to every college in the Western College Union. This was made possible by the recognition given local High school graduates by the University of Missouri and the University of Chicago. Now that these big universities have recognized local graduates thus, the other colleges recognize the same credentials and it is possible for local graduates to go into any of the colleges in the western union.

TIRED FEELING?

A tired or languid feeling is a sign of weak vitality, and this, in women, is nearly always due to the debilitating influence of female trouble. When your menstrual functions are out of order, they call upon the nerves for help, and your nerves answer the call by throwing into the weak parts all the blood force and vitality they can possibly get together. Of course this weakens the rest of your body. Of course you feel tired and languid. Of course you need outside help to keep up your strength and help to make you well. The necessary help you can get by taking Cardui, the pure, old, reliable, scientific remedy for sick women. For tiredness, weakness, irregular menstruation, monthly pains, dragging sensations, debilitating discharge, and all female complaints, a sure cure is

WINE OF CARDUI Woman's Relief From Pain

Wonderful improvement in teaching that I see this year," a local school official stated this morning, "and it is very apparent even at this early date when the schools but have gotten well started."

"I attribute it to the fact that most of the teachers took a special course in teaching during the summer. The normal school conducted here was a success and a world of good was done. There is an interest manifested by the teachers in their work which is soon infused into the pupil. The new methods and late applications are pushing the schools upward daily and the schools are recognized as among the best in the country."

"VOTE AS YOU PRAY."

Is the Watchword of Fusion Candidates in Breathitt.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 4.—"Vote as you pray" is the watchword of the Fusion candidates in Breathitt county at the present time, and today thousands of dodgers were distributed throughout the county of Breathitt and the town of Jackson, signed by S. S. Taulbee, candidate for county judge, and Henry B. Noble, candidate for county school superintendent, appealing to the people to go to the polls next Tuesday and show by their votes that they were opposed to assassination and arson in every form, and rid the county of the racket headed by Jim Hargis, for county judge, which, they claim, has been back of the many assassinations during the past few years which has brought shame on the entire state.

"If you vote for my opponent,"

says Taulbee, "you endorse what has been done in the past."

There was never a campaign waged in the entire state which carried with it the same amount of anxiety on the part of the candidates and citizens, and it is the firm belief of the best element of Jackson and Breathitt county that bloodshed will result at the polls next Tuesday.
